STRIKERS EMBARGO CAL. OIL CAMPS

IN A PERSIAN GARDEN HOLDS AUDIENCE SPELLBOUND

On an almost unbelievably beautiful stage, the wonderful Oriental poem, the "Persian Garden," in its musical setting and in an arrangement suggesting the morality play of medieval times, was produced in the bowl of Verdugo Woodlands Saturday night by members of the California Opera Company and some local stars.

It was comparatively brief, not more than an hour long, but so exquisite a picture that the audience which spontaneously rose to its feet when the curtains parted that they might lose no part of the beauty of the scene, remained standing throughout the performance.

The woodland stage, if it could be so designated, covered not less than half an acre, and was bounded in its further reaches by the illuminated smoke of calcium fed bonfires. There were no footlights discoverable but the loveliness of the foreground was made visible by the diffused light reflected from the foliage of the arching trees overhead which by electric lights cunningly hidden behind tree trunks had been turned to rosy gold.

Gorgeous Picture

Within this zone of radiance over a carpet of leaves the actors and singers moved, their goregous Oriental costuming in that setting making a picture not easily forgotten. The play of purple shadows across the scene intensified the beauty of the spectacle, which divided interest with the vocal work that was most beautiful and interpreted with satisfying artistic finish and sentiment, supported by orchestral accompaniment that was beyond praise.

The sopranos, Signora Cavalieri and Ruth Hutchinson, were assigned the role of "Earthly Influence." "Youth," personated by the tenor, Franklin Record, fell under the spell of earthly influence but was in the end rejected and had to turn for comfort to "Experience" as personated by the bass, George P. Walker, who turned him over to "Good Influence," the contralto, Mrs. Charles A. Parker of Glendale.

Denishawn Dancers

A group of barefooted dancers from the Denishawn studio provided charming interludes, and the chorus and quartette numbers were most satisfying, especially the chorus, "Gipsy Love," sung in the distant background as a prelude to the drawing of the curtains.

Like the morality play was the prologue and epilogue, delivered by Dr. Ameen U. Fareed of our own city, an exponent of Oriental philosophy and authority on Omar Khayyam.

He recalled to the audience the fact that when this great poem was written, Persia was a country in which the use of wine was forbidden. Like all Persian poetry, "The Persian Garden" is symbolic, he said, and does not refer to the appetites of the flesh but is spiritual in its meaning, the wine which the poem glorifies being "the love of God." Its philosophy concerns the "eternal now."

Aged Father Appears

As a portion of the epilogue Dr. Fareed's aged father, Mirza Assad Ullah, in honor of his illustrious countryman delivered a prophesy in Persian, giving the finishing touch of Orientalism.

Other artists who contributed were: Orchestra—Miss Constance McDermott, harp; Miss Ruth Paddock, 1st violin; Miss Sybil Chase, 1st violin; Miss Ethel Thomas, 2nd violin; Miss Anne Grieve, viola; Miss Marian Mathews, cello; Miss Katherine Clifton, flute; Miss Marie Warde, clarinet.

Quartet and chorus—Florence G. Davis, Bessie Hopkins, Cleo Bonfield, C. W. Emerson, L. Reese, Chester F. Rand, June Harding, Anona Kahn, Lila W. Walker, Miss Bowman, W. W. Hetherington, Anthony Pratt, J. R. MacKenzie, and W. Magginette.

MRS. F. P. NEWPORT LOSES NECKPIECE

Mrs. F. P. Newport, who was one of the hostesses of a party which attended the Persian Garden in Verdugo Woodlands, Saturday night, had the misfortune to lose a skunk neckpiece. She is advertising it today in the hope that the finder will return it to the office of the Newport Company in Verdugo Woodlands or to the Glendale Daily Press office.

MRS. W. E. D. STOKES GRANTED DIVORCE; ALSO REBUKED

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—The sensational legal battle between W. E. D. Stokes, capitalist and his pretty young wife, Mrs. Elwood Stokes, ended in the supreme court today when Justice Edward R. Finch denied the suit of the millionaire for a divorce and granted Mrs. Stokes an interlocutory decree of separation on her counter suit.

Justice Finch in his decision, rebuked Mrs. Stokes for bits of her testimony against the aged millionaire as "exaggerated, if indeed some of it really happened at all."

In this connection Justice Finch said:

"Concerning Mrs. Stokes' counterclaim, it is plain that a great deal of what she has testified to has been exaggerated, if indeed some of it really happened at all. This is shown by the fact that these statements are not entered in the body of the diary which she relied upon, but are placed in the regular portions of the diary.

"In addition, while Mrs. Stokes was suffering this cruel and inhuman treatment alleged by her, she was writing most endearing and affectionate letters to her husband. Mr. Stokes, however, did not take the stand, contenting himself with the announcement of his counsel that he did not wish publicly to take issue on the question of veracity with his wife. In consequence, while making due allowance for the exaggeration and unreliability of the testimony of the defendant (Mrs. Stokes) there yet remains sufficient evidence upon which to find a decree of separation, especially in view of the fact that the testimony has not been contradicted."

GLENDALE PIONEER WOMAN PASSES ON

Saturday, September 17, at 5 a. m. there passed from earthly life into the great beyond, Mrs. Laura E. Bardsley, at her home here. She was born in Ossian, Ia., 64 years ago. All of her girlhood was spent in her native town.

At the age of 17 she moved with her parents to Austin, Minn., where she met and married her husband, J. C. Bardsley. They resided in Austin until 1894. Her health being very frail, Mr. Bardsley decided to bring his little family to Southern California. The Sunny South being so in harmony with Mrs. Bardsley's cheerful, hopeful disposition, the twelve years spent at Hemet, Calif., where Mr. Bardsley first located, were sunny, happy years.

Fifteen years ago, Mr. Bardsley brought his family to this city to reside, locating on a ranch in the northwest section of Glendale. In the quiet of that home, hope grew stronger, but gradually tired Nature put in its claim and the little woman grew frailer and frailer until at last the great All-Wise called her to a higher and freer life.

She leaves to mourn her loss her devoted husband, J. C. Bardsley; her only child, Mrs. J. E. Rockhold, with her husband and three children.

These loved ones have been untiring in their encouraging love and attention toward the one they cherished so much.

Mrs. Bardsley's was a strong, cheerful, magnanimous nature. She was devoted to principle; devoted to her home and family; devoted, true and staunch to her friends. During her young womanhood she was an ardent active member of her chosen Church, the Episcopal faith, in Austin, Minn.

She is gone. Those who love her can no longer see her sweet smile nor hear her kind, encouraging words. Surely she has entered into the joys of her Lord. She lived the life that leads to the fulfillment of that promise.

Funeral services are being held this afternoon in the Little Church of the Flowers, Forest Lawn. It was her request that her body be cremated.

LULL IN BELFAST RIOTING COMES WITH DAYBREAK

(By International News Service)

BELFAST, Sept. 19.—Comparative order prevailed here today, following a terrific burst of rioting in which two women were killed and a man was wounded. The dead women were sisters, Miss Eva Ardis and Miss Maggie Ardis, and both were killed by the same bullet.

The fighting began with sniping by Sinn Feiners and Unionists in Vere street. Policemen supported with Lewis machine guns, were rushed to the scene, and arrested three of the ringleaders. Firing continued, however, and soldiers and armored cars were sent into the fighting zone. They remained on duty all night, patrolling Vere street and adjacent thoroughfares.

C. OF C. EXPLAINS WHY BOOTH IDEA IS ABANDONED

The Glendale Chamber of Commerce has decided not to maintain a booth at the San Fernando Valley Fair, which opened today at San Fernando. The Chamber issued the following, explanatory of such action, today:

A committee of bankers from San Fernando called at the Glendale Chamber of Commerce headquarters last Thursday and asked that the Chamber contribute $2500 toward the expenses of the fair. Being unable to do this at the present time, the Chamber officials took the San Fernando representatives before the City Council, which body stated that at this time it would be impossible to donate such an amount for this purpose.

The Council referred the committee back to the Chamber of Commerce with the suggestion that the Chamber circulate a petition among the business men of Glendale in an effort to raise the required $2500. This the local Chamber refused to do.

The committee then stated, it is declared, that it is rather unusual for a Chamber of Commerce to accept space for a booth free of charge, and at the same time refuse to assist in financing the fair.

With this assertion ringing in its ears, the Chamber felt that it would not be welcome at the fair and it naturally decided not to maintain the Chamber booth at the fair, as planned.

However, the Glendale Chamber of Commerce is doing everything it can to help make the fair a success. It is furnishing transportation for all who wish to attend the fair, and is also selling season tickets and posting signs.

YOUNG WOMEN HELD FOR ROBBERY OF KINCY HOME

Detection of Missing Gown On One Leads to the Arrest of Three

Three young women, giving their names as Mercy Webster, Grace Donalson and Eva Kisinger, were arrested yesterday and arraigned this morning on charges of petit larceny in connection with the alleged theft of several articles of wearing apparel and jewelry from the home of Mrs. William Kincy, 360 Ivy street.

House Ransacked

Mrs. Kincy recently returned from a vacation spent at the beach with her husband, and found her home in disorder and several articles of wearing apparel missing. A report was made to the police, and officers have been on the lookout for the alleged theif or thieves since that time. No definite date on which the robbery occurred was given in the complaint, it being stated that the crime had been committed sometime between September 4 and 12, during which time the Kincys were on their vacation.

Dress Identified

Yesterday afternoon, the three women visited Glendale, and one of the trio was wearing a dress that was recognized as the property of Mrs. Kincvy. The women were arrested and taken to police headquarters, where they were questioned regarding possession of the dress.

The woman wearing the dress identified as Mrs. Kincy's was held at the station until another dress could be secured from Los Angeles for her to wear, as the police held the one she had on at the time of her arrest for evidence. The women were released on their own recognizance with orders to appear this morning for arraignment.

At the arraignment this morning before Judge F. H. Lowe, all three women entered a plea of "not guilty" and asked for a trial by jury. The date of the trial was set for October 4 at 10 a. m.

The women said they were preser at a party given at the house durir the absence of the Kincy family and that they did not know what happened, as they were under the influence of liquor.

(By International News Service)

DUBLIN, Sept. 19.—A full session of the Sinn Fein cabinet was held this afternoon to determine whether Eamonn de Valera should reply to Lloyd George's note of Sunday evening.

DUBLIN, Sept. 19.—The opinion prevailed in well-informed circles this afternoon that Eamonn de Valera will not reply to Lloyd George's note of Sunday, but will stand pat upon his telegram of Saturday night.

In his Saturday night communication, de Valera stated that he had accepted Premier Lloyd George's invitation to a peace conference upon the conditions originally imposed by the premier.

Producers' Association Declares Men Are Controlling All Roads to Bakersfield, Taft and Surrounding Kern County Fields and Turn Strike Breakers

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 19.—The battle between the old workers of the state and the Oil Producers' Association, representing several large oil companies and a number of lesser independent producers, in which approximately 8000 men are idle in the Bakersfield, Taft and surrounding Kern county oil fields, has apparently settled down to a protracted fight.

Rival statements were issued here today as reports came from Bakersfield and Taft of a state of complete control of the oil fields by the strikers. According to these reports law and order committees are patroling the roads, enforcing the absence of bootleggers and, incidentally, strike breakers. Strike breakers have been turned back both on railroads and on state roads.

Wages Not Involved

Both sides admit wages are not at issue. The issue is to have the Government continue a party to all wage agreements. Several large companies have agreed to this. The Standard Oil Co. is not affected, as they were never a party to the agreement.

The Oil Producers' Association describes the situation from their point of view in the following statement:

"The purpose of the men heading this strike is plain, and that is, by force to bring pressure upon the Government to interfere and assume obligations of mediation and arbitration which they intend shall develop into control of the industry.

Lawless Conditions

"At this time a lawless condition exists in the oil fields of the San Joaquin valley. The highways into those fields are guarded by strikers, vehicles using them are stopped, and passengers permitted to use them only by permission of the strikers.

"The constables in these oil districts have deputized several hundred strikers, thus enabling them to carry weapons openly. At night barricades have been erected across the highways. Men who attempted to remain at work, except at a few field transportation pumping stations, have been obliged to quit. Guards sent in to protect the companies' property against depredations have been turned back. A special trainload of such guards, sent not to operate the properties, but merely to protect them, was derailed on the Sunset-Western Railway, taken possession of by the strikers and forced to return to Bakersfield. Officers of the companies have been shot at. Stating it baldly, the properties of the companies have been taken possession of by the strikers. In some of the towns in that section, no merchandise, not even drugs, can be bought, except under permit from the strikers."

Union's Demand

From W. J. Yarrow, advisor of the Oil Workers' Union, just returned from the oil fields, came this statement today, in reply to the operators:

"There is no question of wages involved in this strike. The oil workers have voluntarily and without argument accepted a wage cut of $1, although we do not concede this cut to be necessary, and are already paid less than the building trades crafts.

"There is no question of union recognition involved, as we are working under the open shop plan and are perfectly satisfied with it, protected as we are by a 98 per cent organization.

"What we want, and what we intend to get if we have to close down every field in the State, is an agreement between ourselves, the Government and the operators by which we secure Federal mediation of all disputes and Federal supervision of the condition of the industry as it affects labor.

No Wish to Destroy

"We have absolutely no wish to destroy or injure the industry. This is proved by our action in assigning men to take care of the properties of small companies who cannot easily get in touch with their governing boards. There is grave danger that water will damage the structure underlying the field, and we have taken steps to see that this does not occur through any fault of ours."

Yarrow announced that about 1500 men would return to work under an agreement reached with the Doheny interests along the tri-party line.

Charles M. Miller, regional Scout executive, was present and participated in the discussion.

E. L. YOUNG AND FAMILY RETURN FROM MOHAWK

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Young returned Thursday of last week from an outing at Mohawk, on the Feather River, in country they have visited before and are very fond of. It is in the heart of the section that had such a lure the Argonauts of '49. Within five miles of Mohawk, a gold mine with a stamp mill is in operation.

After enjoying the fishing in the Feather River they went up into the mountains at Gold Lake at an elevation of about 6,000 feet. This lake is within a few miles of another gold mine still being worked.

Mrs. Young says the country reminds her more of Lake Tahoe and its environments than any other place she has visited. On the way home they stopped in Oakland to visit Mrs. Young's sister.

WELFARE COUNCIL

At a meeting of the Glendale Welfare Council held during the week at the city hall and conducted by the president, Mrs. E. D. Yard, plans were made for work the coming season, including the special Thanksgiving and Christmas donations.

The report for July, August and September, of Mrs. W. L. Sinclair, who is the director of the Welfare Bureau, (supported by the city and affiliated with the council) was submitted and accepted. Mrs. Sinclair is also assistant director of the council and works in cooperation with Mrs. Yard. Her report showed: Home visits, 21; interviews at office, 20; registrations for employment, 30; employment secured for 13; one city order for groceries given out.

Following was the report of the Welfare Council for the same period: Clothing given out, 280 articles valued at $170; two comforts, valued at $10; one mattress, valued at $15; canned fruit and vegetables, valued at $7; cash paid out in relief work, $80.

The regular annual business meeting and election of officers of the Welfare Council will take place at the city hall the first Monday evening in October. The council is supported by the combined cash contributions of twenty-four Glendale organizations.

MRS. ROWE REPORTS

The chief feature of the meeting of the Women's Christian Temperance Union held Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. G. H. Rowe on South Orange street, was the report given by the hostess of the national convention held in San Francisco.

Mrs. Dockeray, vice-president, led the devotions and after a brief business session Mrs. Rowe was called upon.

She dwelt at considerable length on the wonderful reception given the organization by San Francisco, which hung banners across Market street bearing the inscription, "Welcome W. C. T. U.," flanked with the stars and stripes all the way from the ferry station to the Civic Auditorium where the convention was held. The use of the auditorium was also donated. Had the customary charge been made it would have cost the convention not less than $5000, as the gift included janitor and elevator service, lighting, postoffice and telephone facilities, and the use of other halls for conferences.

MISSIONARY ADDRESSES WOMEN

The Women's missionary society of the Congregational Church met Thursday afternoon and was addressed by Miss Ranney, a missionary from Burmah who told of past and present work there and greatly interested her audience. Lure Of The Deer And The Finny Tribe

Deer Season Opens

The deer season opened September 15 for Southern California but has been open for a longer time in the north. Deer can be secured at the following places:

Pine River—50 miles from Glendale.

Santa Susana Mountains—About 30 miles from Glendale and back of Chatsworth.

Malibu Range—About 35 miles from Glendale.

In vicinity of San Marcos Pass—120 miles from this city.

Deer is decidedly the hardest game to shoot and would not advise anyone to plan only a one-day trip. Would advise spending at least three or four days.

On a long trip of about a week would advise parties to go to Bishop and farther north where deer is guaranteed. There are ideal creeks and salt licks in this vicinity, making it excellent hunting grounds.

Deer are very scarce in the south on account of scarcity of water and would not advise hunting in this locality until after the first rains.

Rabbits and Doves

This game is plentiful and may be secured in quantities at the following places: Santa Susana mountains, Palmdale, Lancaster, Bouquet and Mint Canyons, hills back of San Fernando reservoir, Saugus hills, Newhall and Calabasas.

Complete information as to where the best fishing for the week-end may be found has been secured from Gus Wangenheim, manager of the sporting goods department of the Neale & Gregg hardware store, who is recognized authority on all matters pertaining to hunting and fishing and the Glendale Daily Press offers it to the hunters and fishermen of this city.

Fresh Water Fish

San Fernando Reservoir—Fish are running very poor there this week.

Chatsworth—Fishing here is excellent. They are running small with an occasional large one averaging about three pounds. The small fish are the finest eating. It is too late for good trout fishing in Southern California and the fisherman seeking this sport must go about 250 miles farther north.

Salt Water Fish

Santa Monica—A few smelt and yellowfin.

Playa del Rey—Mackerel, smelt and croakers.

Manhattan Beach—Mackerel, smelt and a few croakers.

Hermosa—Mackerel, smelt and a few yellowfin and croakers.

Redondo—Mackerel, smelt, a few yellowfin, bass and croakers.

Fishing has fallen off considerably in all parts along the coast during the past week. Mackerel are running spasmodic. Would not advise anyone to anticipate a good day of fishing as they are running few and far between.

JAPANESE 'TONE' IS CHANGED AS TO ARMS PARLEY

By DUKE N. PARRY,
International News Service Staff Correspondent

TOKIO, Sept. 19.—A section of the press of Tokio, aided by progressive members of the Hara administration and many minor officials, has taken on a tone entirely different from what was evident during the series of attacks on America during the passage of the California land bill. Before the suggestion of the disarmament conference, but particularly since President Harding's suggestion has been received here, there has been a noticeable liberal element in the public statements and in many of the speeches of public men.

"Not only for the 'time being,' but forever Japan would be compelled to sacrifice her industries and education. How can such a country obtain armament funds if her industries and education are to be sacrificed?

"Twaddle Condemned"

"It is quite easy to explode Dr. Uyesugi's hysterical outburst, but we fear lest such twaddle should be reported to foreign countries as representing a section of Japan. We believe that a restriction of Japanese, British and American navies can be realized without complicating the Far Eastern situation. While Dr. Uyesugi's argument is scarcely worth repudiating it may not be amiss to show that his twaddle is not approved by the general public of this country."

"Marquis Okuma, whose position as an antagonist to the present Hara Ministry has caused him to burst out in more than one campaign of criticism against the position of Japan's internationality, has received the attention of at least one "certain high official."

Quoted in the Nichi Nichi, this official says, "It was shameful for the Japanese press and people to make such a fuss over the Disarmament Conference when it was first suggested. The most deplorable feature has been the way in which veterans like Marquis Okuma and others have demanded a change of ministry. Statemen's like this don't hurt much when read only by the Japanese, who are able to estimate the speakers, but when they are translated, printed in foreign papers and cabled abroad the consequences to Japanese diplomacy are more than I care to forecast. Especially bad was the giving of publicity to statements of public men of Japan who publicly expressed doubt as to the motives of the United States and Great Britain."

Press Attacks Uyesugi

While the Yomiuri and some other newspapers predicted that the Japanese Foreign Office would take up the matter of the Turlock incident with the Washington Government it was learned unofficially that Japan was pleased with the sentiment of the press and the Government in America. This was true especially in the case of Governor Stephens of California. It was shown that the United States felt an injustice had been done and sincerely regretted it. "The sentiment, as expressed by the press in a section where anti-Japanese feeling has alway been considered most bitter," said the Yomiuri, "goes to prove that feeling toward the Japanese in the United States is improving.

"The article of Uyesugi, of the Imperial University, regarding the Disarmament Conference," says the Osaka Mainichi, "proceeds from the premises that there is no way but war to settle international disputes—a warlike outburst. He has the temerity to repudiate a disarmament conference, and we cannot but be ashamed of his insane and outrageous statement. Dr. Uyesugi said, 'If Japan loses her present armaments her position in the Orient will disappear.' But if Japan maintains her present armaments, will not her relative power correspondingly decline if other countries establish greater armaments than ours? Dr. Uyesugi further says, "The Japanese should sacrifice education and industries for the time being,' but, after all, how long is the 'time being?' If other countries compete with us, with their greater resources Japan must contrive to meet this, if the doctor's line of reasoning is to be followed, and thus competition will only continue in a vicious circle.

So strong has the element of liberalism come to be in some cases that those defending the motives of the United States have gone so far as to call such men as Marquis Okuma, former Premier, into account for his so-called indiscreet utterances, they have openly attacked university professors for what is called "anti-American twaddle," and in other ways have exhibited the tolerance which they are beginning to learn as a valuable asset in the Empire today.

Shortly after the Turlock (California) affair I talked with officials of the Foreign Office, with newspapermen and with minor office-holders. While sections of the press charged the action of the laborers in California up to the existence of an anti-Japanese feeling, "throughout the entire United States," there was a noticeable sentiment of tolerance, a feeling expressed in the press and in public statements that the United States was no more to blame for the Turlock occurence than Japan was to blame for a burglar's attack on an American or British resident in Tokio or Yokohama.

BUG BELIEVES IN SIGNS

ATLANTA, Ga., Sept. 19.—As proof of the intelligence of the boll weevil, Frank M. Farley has on exhibition in his office, occupying an otherwise empty bottle, a sound specimen of the bug which flew into the open window of his office in the Grant building here, which window bears the painted sign: "A. A. Smith Company, Cotton Products."

Even Foreign Diplomats Must Pay Tax

Foreign diplomats not accredited to the United States are subject to American war taxes, just as ordinary citizens, when they embark from any port in the United States. This was exemplified in the case of Dr. E. L. Chermont, Brazilian Minister to Japan, who sailed for his post recently from Seattle. Dr. Chermont objected to payment of war tax on the steamship fares of himself and his wife. Federal authorities issued the statement that exceptions do not apply to foreign diplomats passing through the country. The photo shows Dr. E. L. Chermont.

DEATH OF OBREGON IS MEXICAN PLAN, SAYS PLOTTER

By LOUIS P. KIRBY,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 19.—As the rebellion in Chiapas closely followed the assassination of General Jorge Bluhm in that State, it is reported here that the murder of the general was part of the revolutionary plot, although no evidence has been presented in support of this supposition.

The leaders in the new uprising are men of greater distinction than those who have engaged in revolutionary movements for some time. One is Colonel Pablo Villanueva, former Governor of Chiapas, and another is General Aquileo Juarez of Tabasco, who was a man of considerable influence during the administration of President Carranza. These two have the support of several former army officers of better standing than the usual half-bandit rebels. Colonel Hector Macias, who is known here, is said to be with the new revolutionary army.

Juarez and Villanueva made their preparations for revolt in Guatemala and crossed the line with a small force, chiefly officers. They were joined on the Mexican side by reinforcements.

Operations, it is reported, have been commenced in both the States of Chiapas and Tabasco.

Rumors are afloat here that General Greene, former Governor of Tabasco, is in sympathy with the revolt and may take the field. This would greatly increase the seriousness of the situation, which is already described as menacing.

Vera Cruz Quiet

As General Luis Castillo is still in the field in Oaxaca, the scene of conflict in the south of Mexico embraces a wide region, which includes Yucatan. In this State there is a struggle between socialists and radical factions which has assumed the intensity of civil war, according to reports received here.

Conditions are quieter in Vera Cruz where General Pedro Hermandez has surrendered to Federal troops. There is still great restlessness among the thousands of workmen who have been forced into idleness through the shutdown in the oil fields and the closing of industries because of the Vera Cruz profit-sharing law, called "the law of hunger."

Investigation into the alleged plot to assassinate President Obregon continues. General Jesus Salas Lopez and the others who were arrested in connection with the conspiracy have refused to make any statement, beyond a general denial of the truth of the charges made by E. Perez, who sent a letter from the United States warning Preisdent Obregon that his life was in danger.

Perez asserted that he was a member of the band of conspirators, which was composed of discontented men in the State of Morelos. Their project, he said, was to kill President Obregon and seize control of the Government in the confusion which would follow the assassination. General Salas Lopez was made chief of the band, because it was decided that he was best fitted to take hold of the Government and rule Mexico.

Obregon Death Plot

The conspirators, said Perez, agreed the General Obregon should be killed at night, as this would give General Salas Lopez time to take command of the Federal troops in the capital and make his position secure before opposers could get together and offer resistance.

Then, continued Perez, the question arose as to who should explode the bomb with which it was decided that General Obregon should be killed. It was finally agreed to cast lots, and the task fell to Perez.

He was assured, he said, that he would get 50,000 pesos, regardless of the success or failure of the conspiracy.

After many sleepless nights, Perez decided that he would not carry out his part of the plot. He obtained as much money as he could from his associates and then fled to the United States.

There, he said, he was still troubled believing that the conspiracy would go forward without him and he wrote his warning to President Obregon.

Beyond the story told by Perez, little evidence against General Salas Lopez and the other men under arrest has been obtained. It is said, however, that their movements for months past have been mysterious and that they did come from Morelos to Mexico City, as Perez asserted.

The assassination of General Bluhm has had something to do with the credence given to the Perez charges.

CHILD WELFARE DRIVE

The Glendale committee which canvassed this city in the child welfare drive inaugurated by Father Carr of Los Angeles, collected $400 which will be turned over for the use of the Child Welfare Bureau for charitable purposes.

BABY SHOW SCHEDULED FOR SAN FERNANDO FAIR

A modern, scientific baby show will be given under the auspices of the women's committee of the fair, in which several hundred babies will be entered. This part of the fair is open to all children under six years of age, from any part of the county or state. Every day from 10 o'clock in the morning until 4 in the afternoon, babies can be entered for mental and physical examination. A highly efficient staff of doctors, nurses and psychologists will be on hand to give various tests and make a record of how the small entrants register. On Saturday, the last day of the fair, all children whose tests show 90 per cent or better, will be placed on an honor roll and their names will be officially announced. At stated hours, throughout the week, there will be constructive lectures on different phases of child welfare, so that mothers who attend the show will receive considerable education, while learning the exact physical and mental condition of their children. Dr. Caroline Paine Jackman is the Glendale chairman of Child Welfare and is ready to enroll all entries.

Another department of women's activities will be an amateur culinary exhibit, in which home made foods, fruits, preserves, and all kinds of edibles, will be entered. Three other departments come under the women's supervision, all being in the amateur class. These are a needlework exhibit, plants and flowers division and an art department. Mrs. A. H. Montgomery is Glendale chairman of Culinary work and Mrs. C. H. Houston of Plants.

CONGREGATION INSURES PASTOR

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Sept. 19.—Rev. H. M. Edmonds, pastor of the Independent Presbyterian Church of Birmingham, has been insured for $100,000 by members of his congregation. Rev. Edmonds was formerly pastor of another church but withdrew with part of his congregation and formed the present organization. Realizing that the success of the new venture depended largely upon the pastor; deacons of the church decided to insure his life against premature death, which was declared "might seriously affect the organization and perhaps ruin its future."

PINK MARBLE FOR BANK

(By International News Service)

TATE, Ga., Sept. 19.—What is probably the largest individual order of marble from one quarry is recorded by the Georgia Marble Company of this city, which recently began shipping 100,000 feet of pink Georgia marble to be used in the construction of the Fourth District Federal Reserve Bank in Cleveland, Ohio.

Governor Harding, of the Federal Reserve Bank, became interested in the Georgia marble when the new postoffice building in Birmingham was built with the material.

DOLLAR VALUE WILL BE DISCUSSED BY BANKERS IN L. A.

By CHARLES E. HUGHES,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 19.—Financial matters of national and international importance, including the restoration of the dollar to pre-war purchasing value, will be under consideration by some of the greatest minds in the banking world when the annual convention of the American Bankers' Association is held in Los Angeles October 3 to 7.

Thirty-five hundred delegates from the banking institutions of the nation, which number almost 32,000, will be present. It is planned to have expressions from notable speakers who will be called upon to address the various groups of the convention, including national banks, savings banks and trust companies.

The entertainment committee of the Los Angeles Clearing House Committee, of which Motley H. Flint, a prominent Los Angeles banker, is chairman, is arranging an elaborate programme of a week of entertainment for the visitors.

On Sunday, October 2, automobile rides will be provided for the delegates and their families. Places of interest in the city and some of the large motion picture studios will be visited.

On Tuesday evening the Los Angeles Group of the Investment Bankers' Association will give a smoker for the delegates at the Los Angeles Athletic Club. Wives of the visitors will be entertained at a theatre party, followed by a supper.

The Clearing House Association of Pasadena and the Pasadena Chamber of Commerce will be hosts for the visitors on Wednesday afternoon, and that evening they will be taken to Universal City to see a film studio.

The formal ball of the association will be held Thursday evening. A golf tournament will be staged Friday morning. In the afternoon a magnificent lawn fete will be given. Saturday has been set aside as Catalina day, special boats being provided to take the visitors to the island resort.

Officers of the American Bankers' Association are John S. Drum, San Francisco, president; T. B. McAdams, Richmond, Va., first vice-president; John H. Puelicher, Milwaukee, second vice-president; Harry M. Rubey, Golden, Col., treasurer; Thomas B. Paton, New York, general counsel; L. W. Gammon, New York, manager protective department; G. E. Bowerman, New York, executive manager.

CHURCH RESUMES DRIVE

The vacation season being pretty well over, members of the building committee of the Congregational Church have had a meeting and decided to resume the drive for subscriptions October 1. A report was made to the congregation Sunday morning of the subscriptions already secured and funds available.

The committee includes Charles Guthrie, Blake Franklin, Hartley Shaw, E. D. Yard and Thomas White.

MOTOR FEVER HITS ENGLAND; U. S. CAR FINDS FAVOR

(By International News Service)

LONDON, Sept. 19.—Despite the high price of motor cars and the comparatively higher price of "petrol," England is motoring.

Henry Ford has something to do wth it. Sundry long-headed manufacturers who have tried to compete with Ford have evolved little two-cylinder, air-cooled engines, around which they have built what looks more or less like an automobile.

The slump in trade, hard times knocked the bottom from the automobile business. The showrooms of large cars are not crowded and have not been all summer.

Cars of standard five-passenger size, or bigger, are not for ordinary individuals in this country. The cheapest sell for prices seldom under $2,500. The cheapest two-seaters of what might be termed standard size and construction, cost $2,000.

The motor-cycle and side car ranges from $480 to $900. Motoring isn't for the skilled mechanic in this country, as it is in the States. Mr. Ford's well-known and much joshed product sells for $900, stripped.

Epidemic of "Flivvers"

But a lot of people are finding the 225 pounds sterling. For there's an epidemic of them on the roads. With dad astride the saddle, the boy in a seat behind and mother and daughter comfortably packed into a fairly roomy side-car, many a holiday trip has been taken this Summer.

Father prefers the motor-cycle-side car combination, because, with it, he gets about sixty miles to his sixty-five-cent gallon of "gas." It isn't the cost, it's the upkeep that causes many a family, which in the States would own a good car, to stick to the "squab basket."

The makers of cheap cars have improved on their models in the last year. At home the cheap car means Henry, naturally. But the Ford is a lord of the road compared with Britain's cheap car.

Here the phrase may mean four bicycle wheels, set narrow gauge, covered by a tub-like body, under which chugs a very cheap motor-cycle engine—price $400. It seats one person, or, a rare exception, two one behind the other. Or it may be a three wheeler, two seats and driver's seat behind. Prices vary, but are usually around $1,000. They are diminutive cars, with bodies built on racing lines, with a long impressive hood, which houses merely the passenger's feet, the motive power coming from a motor-cycle engine at the rear.

Others, some having excellent body-work, glistening bonnets and looking altogether like aristocrats are propelled by a good two-cylinder motor-cycle engine, which occupies a small portion of the space ostensibly reserved for engine power. These will set you back about $1,400.

Like the American flivver, however, these near-cars all go. And English roads are built for light cars, being for the most part better than we can display at home. The roads are full of them. They solve the problem of comparatively cheap initial outlay and cheap operation.

THE NEW CHIEF OF POLICE

The City Council is to be complimented upon its selection for the position of chief of police. His appointment signifies that the City Council itself is one of which the city should be proud. The appointment means that the City Council intends that the laws of the state and the ordinances of the city shall be enforced without fear, favor or partiality.

This is shown by the selection of Mr. Martin to enforce the law. Mr. Martin is not new in this district, and he has shown what kind of an officer he is.

City Councils that do not want the laws enforced properly and fairly would sidestep the appointment of a square-shooter of the Martin type.

Without any reflection on the retiring chief of the police department, The Glendale Daily Press is of the opinion that Mr. Martin will sustain the standard of the force and can be depended upon to undertake the immediate organization of winter vigilance against migratory thieves.

Real Estate Review

In addition to four applications to move houses in Glendale from their present location to other parts of the city, building permits totaling $18,950 have been issued today up to noon. This amount increases the monthly total to $289,035, and the yearly total to $37,194,229.

Of the list of permits issued today two of them are for residences valued at $4000 each, another is for a home to cost $3200 and a third is for a home to cost $3000. The ever increasing number of new homes being built in Glendale is an indicator that Glendale is becoming better known as a home city and that there is at present insufficient houses to accommodate the numbers of people that desire to make this city their home.

Why is Glendale the fastest growing city in the United States? Of course climate is in a large way responsible for this rapid growth from a population of 2746 in 1910 to more than 20,000 in 1920, but the leading factor in the city's growth is largely the spirit of advancement that has permeated the residents and the indomitable will of the people since the city of Glendale was in its infancy.

Every year has marked an epoch of advancement for this city and each year sets a new mark in advancement to be excelled the following year. New progress is made every year, more streets are paved, more buildings are erected and more industries are locating here.

In 1909 the city went into the municipal ownership business and bonded itself for an electric light and power distributing system. In 1914 the city took over some private water companies and combined water distribution with the electrical system and has established one of the most successful municipally owned plants in the state. The public service department, since its inception, has been self-supporting and has never been forced to call upon the property owners to make up through a tax or assessment any deficiency. At the same time that this department has been self-supporting the cost of these two utilities to the consumer has been lower in Glendale than it is in the average municipality.

Covering an area of 11.7 square miles, Glendale has a greater portion of its streets paved and improved than any of the neighboring cities. There are 60 miles of paved streets in this city as against 30 miles that are not paved. Of these 30 miles of unpaved streets, preparations are being made at present to cut down the number of unimproved streets.

Combining the municipally owned light and water systems and the 60 miles of streets that are already improved the tax rate in Glendale at present is one of the lowest in the state, based as it is, on 30 to 40 per cent valuation covering all purposes, including state, county, municipal and schools, and amounts to $4.26, which on actual valuation would not reach 20 mills.

Glendale at present, in addition to its 60 miles of improved streets, has 123 miles of concrete sidewalks and eight acres of city owned property set aside for park purposes that has already been planted with trees and will soon be in the process of development.

In addition to its own municipally owned land for parks, Glendale is located adjoining Griffith park. This is a great natural scenic park containing 3,000 acres, a municipal golf course and a zoological exhibit. Glendale residents have the same privileges at Griffith park as have the residents of Los Angeles.

All of these facts combined form, in a small way, the reasons for the wonderful growth of Glendale during the past decade. Besides being a part of the reason for the past growth of Glendale, the above quoted facts will be the basis for the future growth of the city.

To make room for the business block that will be constructed by the Ralphs Grocery Co. at the northwest corner of Broadway and Orange, John A. Cole this morning began the removal of his dwellings from the property. There are four buildings on the ground at this time. One of these is an eight-room dwelling, which will be moved to 311 North Central avenue. The other large residence, located at 107 North Orange, and consisting of six rooms, will be moved to 810 South Central. One of the small dwellings at the rear of these lots will be moved to 1460 East California avenue, and the other will be moved to 223 East Acacia avenue. W. M. Knickrem is the contractor in charge of the moving operations.

There are a number of rumors afloat as to the type of structure that will be erected by the Ralphs Grocery Co. on this site. The most elaborate of these is that a four-story building will be erected, while another report has it that the building will be of two stories.

FIRST SAVINGS BANK WARMS NEW VAULT THURSDAY

Open House To All Glendale Folks Will Be Maintained by Officials of New Financial Institution—Equipment Will Be Shown—Capital Stock $50,000

The formal opening of the First Savings Bank of Glendale, 104 East Broadway, will take place at the bank's new quarters next Thursday from 9 a. m. until 9 p. m.

While this will be the "formal" opening of this bank it will in fact be a very informal affair.

All of the officers and directors of this bank are well known in Glendale and this opening affair will simply be a time of good will and handshaking.

From 7 until 9 o'clock in the evening the bank will hold "open house," at which time the visitors will be given an opportunity to inspect all parts of the bank and will be made to feel at home generally. A cordial invitation is hereby extended to the people of Glendale to visit this bank and to see how splendidly things have been arranged.

The First Savings Bank of Glendale, which opened its doors this morning as a savings bank, is affiliated with the First National Bank of Glendale, and is owned by the stockholders of that organization.

The officials of the new bank are C. C. Cooper, president; R. F. Kitterman, vice-president; Edward M. Lee, vice-president; E. U. Emery, vice-president; William A. Goss, assistant cashier and secretary; E. L. Osborn, Jr., treasurer. The board of directors consists of the officers and also Messrs. George T. Paine, M. P. Harrison, and W. W. Lee.

The capital stock of the bank is $50,000, all of which has been paid in, and there are $5,000 undivided profits.

The escrow, collection and safety deposit departments were moved into the bank this morning and are now operating in full swing.

The room that is now being occupied by the First Savings Bank of Glendale has been decorated in a very artistic manner. The walls and ceilings have been decorated, while the fixtures are done in mahogany and marble. Each department has its separate room. The room that is being occupied by this establishment is 25x90 feet. The most modern vault procurable has been installed, it being a class 1 feature. The vault is equipped with an electrically operated burglar detection system.

With regard to the locating of this bank in Glendale Mr. Goss, assistant cashier and secretary, said this morning:

"We are locating this establishment here because we feel that Glendale needs it. The purpose of the bank will be along with its other activities, to take care of the real estate loans, and thereby assist in the upbuilding of Glendale. We all want to see

Gathered About Town

By O. L. KILBORN

Mrs. Isaac Pearson, 644 East Harvard street, is reveling in a cluster of post cards from Dr. and Mrs. Langdon, of Winton, Merced County, who are traveling in Europe. All were written from Stratford-on-Avon, the home of William Shakespeare, but described scenes and incidents of the journey across France, Switzerland, Italy, Germany, Belgium and England. They saw the Jungfrau, Riga and Mont Blanc, floated down the Rhine as far as Cologne, visited the battlefields in Belgium, also in France, including the Aisne region, where there is still a vast system of dugouts, constructed by the German invaders, some of them 40 feet under ground and built of concrete. In England they spent considerable time in Stratford, because it was there Mrs. Pearson's ancestors lived. They were Cloptons and Sir Hugh of that name lived in Shakespeare's time. His grandfather sold to William Shakespeare's father the home that was occupied by the great writer, later, and which is now a shrine which all admirers of the "bard of Avon" who are able love to visit. Views of the homestead, the church and "the avenue" in Stratford, were shown on some of the postcards, also one of Warwick castle which is on the banks of the Avon.

Glendale bids fair to rival Long Beach in the proportion of grocery stores to population. In 1910, when Long Beach boasted only 17,000 inhabitant, there were 102 stores within its limits that sold groceries. Glendale, with 22,000 or more population, has not far from 80 of such stores.

"A KISS IN TIME" AT PALACE GRAND

Laughs and thrills were well combined in "A Kiss in Time," which opened for a two-day run at the Palace Grand Theatre last night. Wanda Hawley is the star of the piece, and it is one of her most successful comedies. "A Kiss in Time" might be called a peachy comedy, for, besides featuring this prettiest of blondes, who is, you know, even without the aid of color photography, the peaches-and-cream tpye, the best scenes are laid in a peach orchard in full bloom.

Included in the supporting cast are three well-known comedians, T. Roy Barnes, Walter Hiers and Bertram Johns. For clean fun without sex problems or blood-and-thunder, "A Kiss in Time" can be heartily recommended.

Besides this sparkling comedy, the program includes a second feature picture with Mary McLaren—"The Wild Goose." This is a drama from the pen of Gouverneur Morris, and is a Cosmopolitan production.

A Burton Holmes Travels completes the bill, while Henri Monnet at the Wurlitzer sends you away in a delightfully pleasant mood.

Saturday afternoon, when traffic was very heavy on Brand, I saw a big car going down that street at a very lively gait, with a young man, or rather boy, at the wheel and a girl beside him. His left hand was resting lightly on the steering wheel and his left arm was around the girl's neck.

JOLLY AFFAIR GIVEN FOR MRS. W. H. HILLMAN

In honor of Mrs. W. H. Hillman, who is here from Tulare as the guest of her father, Dr. A. M. Duncan, Mrs. Claire Van Etten entertained on Friday members of the U. and I. Club, with an afternoon of needlework and social chat. Dainty refreshments were served.

Mrs. Hillman was a member of the club before she went to Tulare to live, and the opportunity to revisit with her fellow members was much enjoyed.

The guest list included Mrs. L. E. Richardson, Mrs. C. E. Blair, Mrs. Robert Kimball, Mrs. J. A. Ashton, Mrs. J. M. Server, Mrs. C. W. Angier, Mrs. Bert Goldsborough, Mrs. S. H. Wilcox, Mrs. H. Struchan, Mrs. A. J. Becker, Mrs. J. H. Cunningham, Miss Ida Myers and the guest of honor.

"LOOK TOWARD THE SEA" THEME OF REV. EDMONDS

At the Presbyterian Church Sunday morning the pastor, Rev. W. E. Edmonds, having returned from a vacation spent at the seashore, preached from the text, "Go up now, look toward the sea" (I Kings, 18:43).

There is much in the Bible concerning the sea. "The gathering together of the waters called the seas." "Let the seas praise Him." "The sea is His; He made it." John, in his apocalpptic vision of the far future, heard "There shall be no more sea."

In the text Elijah bid his young servant, "Look toward the sea." For three and a half years there had been desolation on the land, no rain nor dew. Israel had sinned, and God had been dealing with them in judgement. But one day Elijah had word from God there was to be rain—most welcome and blessed news. He took it at once at its full value. "The thing is done," he said: and he sent his servant to the summit commanding the sea to look for the cloud.

The young man's first look was a look of faith. In olden times men were not troubled with doubts; what God promised they expected, no matter how it might affect earth or sky. Some worldly-wise man says, "They knew nothing about science those days." If scientific knowledge goes contrary to God's word, then it's false. All things are possible with God, and what He says is sure, no matter what cannot be seen. He could stop the sun. He provided the great fish to swallow Jonah; and afterwards Jesus referred to that event as an illustration of His own resurrection. There is no such thing as immortality if Jesus' word on that was not true.

That look toward the sea was a look of need. There was not a handful of grain left, no water. All true prayer comes of need. Need has few words. When Peter was sinking, at once there was a hand to save. There is life for a look; maybe you can't do more than look.

The young servant's look was an unselfish look; it was for others. Jesus Christ came not to be ministered unto but to minister. God so loved the world that he gave His best. The look for a time was disappointing. Just because the answer is not in sight at once is no sign it is not on the way. God hath spoken, and shall He not make it good? The look was a repeated look. We say, "Yes, I looked and saw nothing. I want to see something." The command comes to each several one of us to continue our looking without wavering.

And at last it was a rewarded look. The young man had been going up steadily six times for nothing. Between the sixth and seventh looks is where the failure comes in, stopping too soon. Keep going till the answer comes in sight. Withheld answer makes us feel our dependence on God and tightens our grip like Jacob. At the seventh time there was in sight a little cloud rising out of the sea like a man's hand, and the look was answered. A great rain came.

It is said of Luther than once when he was seeking God for the fulfillment of a promise, he said, holding his finger on it, "If Thou dost not fulfill that promise to me I will never trust Thee again?" He dared thus for others. Such should be our confidence.

God holds the waters in the hollow of His hand. Go up now and see the cloud—it is ready to pour out blessing.

LEFTY HERMAN IS HOME WITH NEW TIGER RECORD

Floyd ("Lefty") Herman is at his home, 441 West Harvard, for a few months' rest before plunging into the turmoil of a big league baseball season. Few players have equalled Lefty's record of brilliant playing of the national pastime. Graduated but a little more than a year ago from Glendale High, his first season as a professional with the Edmonton club of the West Canada League was so pronounced a success that he was signed by the Detroit team of the American League for next year. His fame as a home run hitter on the Glendale High School team was not dimmed when he faced professional hurlers, for his batting average was .332. He played at first base and in right field during the past season, and was always in reserve as a pinch hitter.

It is rather remarkable that Glendale's two leading ball players, Pitcher Howard Empke and Lefty Herman, are on the Detroit team. Empke has been one of the mainstays of the Detroit pitching staff for three seasons past. Glendale fans predict that Lefty will not fail to hold up his end in the game, and next season's games in which Detroit figures will be watched very closely.

It is certainly meet that Glendale, the fastest growing city in the world, should furnish two of the fastest young players in the country.

IF BACK HURTS BEGIN ON SALTS

Flush Your Kidneys Occasionally if You Eat Meat Regularly

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which clogs the kidney pores so they slugishly filter or strain only part of the waste and poisons from the blood, then you get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness, bladder disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable pharmacy and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which all regular meat eaters should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.

MODERNIST ART AT MUSEUM BRANDED AS DEGENERATE

By K. M. ELISH
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK Sept. 19.—Greenwich Village is rubbing its eyes.

Also the little Latin quarter over on the "left bank" of the East River—that is to say the artistic colony on Brooklyn Heights—is also pinching itself to make sure it's awake.

They have all been set by the ears. The artistic sanctum sanctorum of New York—the Metropolitan Museum of Art—has been denounced as a hotbed of Bolshevism.

Printed circulars denouncing as "degenerate and pathological" the exhibition of modernistic art now on view at the Metropolitan have been going through the mail to a selected list of connoisseurs. Addressed by typewriter, and without return addresses, the pamphlets bear the printed signature, "A Committee of Citizens and Supporters of the Museum."

Condemning the exhibition as "entirely unworthy of the Muesum," the "committee" characterizes in detail the pictures it deems offensive. "Vulgar in subject," "corrupt in drawing," "childish in conception" are the labels affixed to one group. "Simply pathological in conception, drawing, perspective and color," is another characterization.

According to the circular the Metropolitan is being made the tool of art dealers who want to "unload this rubbish on the public."

The trouble with modernism in general, and the Metropolitan's exhibition in particular, according to the pamphlet, is a combination og Bolshevism, commercialism and just plain insanity.

Deification of Ugliness

"The world-wide Bolshevik propaganda," declares the brochure, "aims to overthrow and destroy all existing social systems, including that of the arts. This modernistic degenerate cult is simply the Bolshevik philosophy applied in art. The triumph of Bolshevism, therefore, means the destruction of the present aesthetic system, the transportation of all aesthetic values and the deification of ugliness. The philosophy of Bolshevism as applied to all channels of human action is the gospel of mental importance. Hence the Bolsheviks would open the gates of the temple of art to the mentally lame, halt and blind of the human race.

Human Greed Factor

The circular declares that the second force back of the modernistic movement in art is greed. The whole propaganda of this movement, it declares, was organized by European art dealers who had flooded the American market with French and Dutch pot boilers. But the real cult of modernism, the circular declares, began with a small group of neurotic egomaniacs in Paris who styled themselves worshippers of Satan, the God of Ugliness.

"The third moving force of modernistic art is a well-known form of insanity," declares the committee.

PIGSKINNERS NOW OUT FOR PRACTISE

Practically all of the American c olleges who go in for football have their players out for practice. The photograph shows Coach Stanford, of Rutgers College, instructing Capt ain P. J. Duffy in the art of tackling a dummy.

GREATEST FOOTBALL SEASON PLANNED FOR TROJANS

One of the greatest football seasons in history is the plan of the University of South California authorities this year. No less than three of the strongest and most dangerous of the Pacific Coast conference colleges will be met on the gridiron. In addition the four best Southern California elevens have been awarded dates on the Trojans' schedule.

As if seven football games in one season weren't enough for any varsity eleven Coach Elmer Henderson, familiarly known as "Gloomy Gus" to pigskin followers on the Pacific Coast, is endeavoring to persuade Manager Henry Bruce to line up another contest for the Cardinal and Gold players.

Scheduled to open against the California Institute of Technology at Bovard Field on October 8, Coach Henderson wants to pry off the lid of the season with a game one week earlier. This would give the Trojans eight games, and keep them busy from the first of October until December 3, when they close the season against Washington State on the turf of Tournament Park, Pasadena.

The biggest games of the season, of course, will be those with the Coast conference colleges. California comes first. This game will be played at Berkeley, November 5, and will be the only conflict away from home.

The Bears and Trojans failed to get together last year, following the close 14-13 struggle in California's favor of the previous year, though U. S. C. challenged California to a post-season game before the New Year's Day game.

This game will be in the nature of the "Big Game" for both California and U. S. C., for Stanford, heretofore the Blue and Gold's greatest rival, doesn't figure to create much commotion against the well-drilled collection Coach Andy Smith can put up on the field. The conquerors of Ohio State lost only three men from last year's illustrious eleven — Majors, guard; Sprott, halfback; and Deeds, halfback, and Smith's second string team was so good you couldn't tell the difference from the first.

California without a doubt will be U. S. C.'s worst hurdle. A Trojan victory would certainly upset all the preconceived ideas of California undergrads about the Bears representing the Pacific Coast at Tournament Park next New Year's Day.

After the California game U. S. C. has one of its open dates, which will give the boys a chance to rest up. Then comes a tilt with one of the southern colleges—Whittier—to be followed by the first of the intersectional contests, namely, that with the Oregon Aggies at Tournament Park.

A week later comes the windup of the season, unless the Trojans should be fortunate enough to win all their games and gain the right to represent the West at Pasadena. Washington State has this date—December 3—and the clash will mark the Cougars' first game in Southern California since they appeared against Brown, winning 14 to 0, in the first East versus West football game at Pasadena. The U. S. C. schedule follows:

October 8—California Institute of Technology.
October 15—Occidental at Patterson field.
October 22—Open Date. Stanford-U. S. C. freshman game possible.
October 29—Pomona at Bovard field.
November 5—California at Berkeley.
November 12—Open Date.
November 19—Whittier at Bovard field.
November 26—Oregon Aggies at Tournament Park.
December 3—Washington State at Tournament Park.

HUGE SUGAR PRODUCTION
(By International News Service)

SANTA ANA Sept. 19.—By the middle of November it is expected that 1,500,000 sacks of sugar will have been produced from the four large plants that are operating in Orange County this season. Beet men intimate that the tonnage for the county will be more than 400,000 tons.

While the total county acreage of beets is less than in 1920, the additional yield per acre this year will increase the total production, it is said.

RATTLESNAKES ARE HATCHED BY HAND

AMERICUS, Ga., Sept. 19.—M. W. Bryant, living in the Rift neighborhood, can claim the distinction today of having hatched out a successful brood of nine little rattlesnakes after having crushed the mother snake to doom a few days ago.

Bryant, recently finding the big snake, which measured over six feet and had nine rattles, killed it and took the eggs, found upon the Ursy plantation, to his home, where he placed them in a box of sand for proper incubation.

Each egg hatched out and the little fellows measured about 12 inches in length. They will be kept under observation.

BOY SCOUT COUNCIL HOLDS MEETING TO DISCUSS FUTURE

Two regular business meetings of the Boy Scouts' Council of Glendale was held at the office of Roy L. Kent on South Brand Friday night. The meeting was presided over by Charles L. Chandler, president of the organization. Among the members of the council who were present were President, Charles L. Chandler; Secretary, Roy L. Kent; Charles H. Toll, Dr. C. G. Farrow, Nathan Rigdon, Herman Nelson, Capt. W. C. Wattles, C. W. Ingledue, E. E. Harwood, A. A. Barton, C. H. Crawford, and Richardson D. White.

The principal business of the evening was the consideration of the formation of a first class council in Glendale. A first class council calls for a paid scout executive, who would give his full time to the work of the local council. If it should be decided, at a later date, to start a first class council here, the annual budget for the work would run between $3,500 and $4,000. This would include the salary of the scout executive, which would run between $1,800 and $2,000. The remainder would go to paying the incidental expenses of the council.

Executive Resigns

Ben Robinson, who for the past few months has been acting scout executive, was present and gave a report of the work of the council up to this time. An interesting point in this report was to the effect that 24 boys enjoyed the camping trip taken by the Glendale scouts this summer. On account of Mr. Robinson having to attend high school it will be impossible for him to remain in charge of the council. In accepting his resignation the members present complimented him on the excellent work he has been doing and they regret very much that he will be unable to take care of the work during the winter.

At this meeting a resolution was passed that a committee be appointed to meet on Tuesday evening, September 20, with the councils from Los Angeles county, Los Angeles city, Pomona, Long Beach and other places, the purpose of this meeting being to plan a campaign for financing the scout work for the coming year. This committee will be appointed by the president before Tuesday.

Future Work Planned

Mr. Miller, scout executive of Los Angeles county, was present at this meeting for the purpose of helping the members of the council plan for future work.

When the meeting adjourned it was with the understanding that another meeting will be held next Thursday night for the purpose of deciding the question of whether or not a first class council shall be started in Glendale.

In the Glendale council there are Troops 1, 2 and 3, all of which are active. Troop No. 4, which consists of boys from the First Methodist Church of Glendale, has been inactive for some time, but this troop will soon be reorganized for active work. At this time there are about 100 boys in the Boy Scouts' Council of Glendale.

FLORIDA BANK FINDS EMPLOYMENT FOR JOBLESS MEN

By H. C. HAMILTON,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., Sept. 19.—Merchants and farmers of this section of Florida—known the World over mainly as a Winter resort—declare there is no business depression for them, and one of the reasons, the chief one, in fact, is that T. T. Reese, president of the Farmers' Bank and Trust Company has seen to it that the city's labor is kept busy.

The only employment bureau operated by a bank in the United States is what the people of West Palm Beach and Palm Beach call Mr. Reese's venture. Whether this is accurate Mr. Reese himself was unable to state, but he did say he did not know of any other similar agency for absorbing a community's labor.

The idea was born just after the armistice was signed, Mr. Reese told a representative of the International News Service. There came news of many men out of employment, and Mr. Reese wanted to help employer and labor to get together—with the added incentive of new friends for his bank and consequent increase in deposits. More than 500 men have been placed in positions since the venture began, and it is still in operation.

Most of the positions filled were those of stenographers, bookkeepers, cashiers, boat captains, pilots, engineers, cooks, butlers, laundresses, housekeepers, landscape gardeners, caretakers and mechanics of all kinds. The latter class is in great demand and keeps the bank in constant touch with the huge number of Winter residents of this section.

Three-Fourths Make Good

Mr. Reese makes it a point to personally interview every person "placed," before that person takes up his new duties, and the record shows that more than three-fourths of the men and women have made good. The figures are accurate, because most of them opened accounts with the bank.

"It is astonishing what a serious impression it makes on a man to be placed in a position through a bank," said Mr. Reese. "We believe here that the free employment bureau, if adopted generally by the banks, will go a long way toward solving employment problems."

Venture Successful

The employment bureau in reality is an offspring of a previous venture. When the war began to take Mr. Reese's stenographers, cashiers, tellers and other employes he had to cast about for men to take their places, and he found the market short, so he established a night school in the bank, and, with himself one of the instructors, began to give free instruction in these professions to young people. Seventy-two young men and women responded to his first call for pupils. Eventually he used up all the material at hand and had taught stenography, bookkeeping, typewriting, etc., to all those available. Having filled the market with the potential workers he employed as many as he could and then started out to find positions for others. The venture was so successful that he resolved to do what he could to find places for other.

The night school has been discontinued, but Mr. Reese said he stands ready to renew it if occasion demands. He is a competent telegraph operator, stenographer and bookkeeper, professions through which he passed during his rise to his present position.

HOUSE RENT TOO HIGH; HE MOVES INTO CAVE

HONOLULU, Sept. 19.—A Filipino resident of Honolulu has succeeded in solving one phase of the H. C. L. problem and in beating profiteering landlords out of potential gains at the same time.

A year ago the citizen in question, who may be designated by the Filipino version of "John Doe," which is Juan de la Cruz, returned from work one day to find that his wife had left the family rooftree. Taking a philosophical attitude, Juan saw in this occurrence a chance to reduce living costs so, in company with his five-year-old son, he moved into a cave left by workmen under a paved road in the Iwilei district of Honolulu. Here he was found recently, serene in the knowledge of a growing bank account and apparently perfectly happy in his somewhat cramped quarters. This apartment measures six by ten feet and is comfortably if not sumptuously furnished. Juan says he intends to stay if not ordered to move.

COLORED CONSTABLE TELLS WORLD HE IS ON HIS JOB

(By International News Service)

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Sept. 19.—You've got to hand it to Constable H. B. Allen, of Cass district, this county, for being on the job. Allen is a negro who was recently appointed to the position of constable. His field of operation includes part of the famous Scott's run sector of the county. After he had duly qualified for the job, Allen armed himself with an eight-inch Colt revolver, a sawed-off shotgun and a sorrel horse. Thus he travels up and down Scott's run, preserving the peace and dignity of that part of the State.

But that's not all of it. Allen decided that his work was to be thorough in every particular. So he went to a printing office and had some hand bills struck off. They read as follows:

"H. B. Allen.
"Constable for Cass District.
"Is any one bothering you?
"Is there any trouble going on anywhere that you can't stop? See me. I'll show you a thing or two.
"We have laws in this State and we have men who know how to use them.
"We have officers who fear nothing but God, and we will go anywhere in the world to get a man.
"I am your friend; the law is your friend. You can't get along without the law.
"Then why don't you have a talk with people who know the law?
"I am located at Osage, West Virginia. Phone 7137-R3.
"See me at night; see me in the day; see me any time.
"H. B. ALLEN."

JURIST WOULD HAVE WHIPPING BARRED BY LAW IN U.S.

(Written by MARGERY REX for the International News Service.)

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—"If he was mine you bet I would give him a good whipping!"

"I'll tell your father when he comes home tonight—you just wait and see. He'll thrash the life out of you!"

"Have you got enough or shall I give you some more until you are sorry?"

If the partitions that enclose us have ears, then the above sentences have often smote the eardrums of woodshed and nursery walls.

But has a whipping ever done anyone any real good?

Picture the agonized mind of a child who feels chastisement to be not only the inflicting of physical pain but also the power of Might over what, to him, seems Right.

Too many mothers and fathers, out of sorts themselves, and intensely irritated at the demands or the depredations of a restless and mischievous child, resort to severe corporal punishment as a sure way of getting results, if only temporarily.

In France there is a movement now to check this habit of parents. Fighting "someone not your own size" has ever been held a despicable trick.

Dr. Loulouse, well-known physician of France, will appeal to his country to make illegal this type of parental reprisal.

Justice Levy Opposes Whipping

Justice Samuel D. Levy, of the Children's Court, of New York City, an acknowledged authority on child psychology, has given his opinions on the action of the French physician and on the subject of whipping in general. He says:

Dr. Toulouse is opposed to the rod as a persuasive instrument to compel erring or delinquent or undisciplined or incorrigible or ungovernable children to be 'good'; or as a means toward reformation.

"I am told he is preparing an appeal to the Chamber of Deputies of France for a revision and repeal of the law which gives parents right and authority to discipline a child by corporal punishment.

"As you know, in this State, corporal punishment is not permitted in the public schools under express statute.

"There is no such statute, however, pertaining to parents.

corporal punishment upon his or her child, but such punishment must be fair, reasonable, not excessive or brutal.

"If brutal, he or she must answer to the State as in case of assault and may be fined or imprisoned or both, depending upon the severity of the offense.

England Insists Upon "Birching"

"This subject has been much discussed, and England has come to the conclusion that corporal punishment is not only allowable, but that it is the only way to treat some incorrigible children. Among the divers sentences for incorrigibility and delinquency of juveniles, 'birching,' as it is called, is doled out as a part of the therapy toward disciplining such disorderly or ungovernable children.

"Personally, I do not believe a 'birching' ever did any real good or made the bad boy good. I rather believe that those boys or girls who have acted so badly that an English magistrate finds it necessary to sentence them to a 'birching' are not the ones to benefit by chastisement.

"On the contrary, those children will thereafter go about with an anti-social grudge that will make them criminals in time.

"Indeed, I cannot conceive of the picture, so brutal, in fact, of the man whose occupation is that of the Court Bircher; nor of the groaning, writhing child who has had the 20 or 30 lashes inflicted, sometimes until the blood spurts from its tender skin; nor of the people present who can witness such a scene without a feeling of deep pity.

"Can anyone look upon such a state of affairs and feel that justice is being done? Or the law vindicated?

"A parent has the right in New York under the decisions to inflict

Smacks of Pillory Days

"The whole proposition is to me inconceivable and smacks of the days of the pillory and the stocks.

"Recently the sheriff of the county went on record as saying that he will endeavor to have a bill passed this winter abolishing the death penalty for murder; and in its place to have substituted a life sentence, without pardoning grace; except upon proof that the verdict is erroneous. This is as it should be.

"The death penalty never stayed the hand of any murderer, and in many States where the death penalty has been abolished, less murders are the rule.

"The death penalty is the severest form of corporal punishment and has been a failure wherever practiced.

"In New York State murders have increased under the death penalty. A young man under the form of the law was put to death a few days ago. He protested his innocence to the very last moment of his life.

"And I am not so sure but that time will prove his innocence. It has happened before, and such errors, especially when founded upon circum-

YOUNG-BAIRD PARTY BRINGS BACK GAME

A party consisting of Dr. and Mrs. T. C. Young, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Baird and Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Hall, returned Saturday noon from a vacation trip of about a month far back into the Mt. Lassen country. They report having the time of their lives, and in addition to seeing a number of small bear and tracking grizzly bears for several miles, they brought home six dandy bucks, one of them being the largest of its kind killed in that section of the country this year and also a quality of beautiful rainbow trout.

The party, with the exception of Mr. and Mrs. Hall, made the trip as far as Oakland via the coast highway and they report goods roads practically all of the distance. From Oakland they went to Sacramento and on to Chico, which is 110 miles north of Sacramento. At Chico they left the pavement and traveled over dirt roads for 80 miles back into the mountains to Chester, where Mr. and Mrs. Hall were waiting for the travel-stained motorists. From this point the party of six, accompanied by an Indian guide, journeyed up to Juniper Lake, a distance of 14 miles from Chester and the end of the road. From this point they packed in by wagon and 4-horse team to a point many miles from the nearest bit of civilization. They camped near an ice-cold spring and right out where the "wild ones" are. A number of side trips were taken from Chester, this taking up part of the time given to the outing. The party was in camp about 16 days.

The trip back to Glendale was a whirlwind affair. From camp the party drove to Oakland, a distance of 280 miles in one day, most of this distance being mountain country. From 4:40 Friday afternoon until noon Saturday the party drove from Oakland to Glendale, and the deer was safely deposited in the refrigerator of the Glendale market in time to keep it in good shape. About 1600 miles was covered on this vacation jaunt.

RETURN FROM HUNT

Fireman George Myers, Julius Moniot and Ralph Myers, volunteers, of the Glendale Fire Department, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Dominic Ruggiero, have returned from a hunting trip in the region of Palm Springs. They failed to bring any of the elusive bucks home with them, but George says he is going after them again in a short time.

HI Y ACTIVITIES BEGIN THIS WEEK

At a meeting of the Glendale Hi-Y Club yesterday, the boys adopted the program worked out by delegates to the State Hi-Y camp, held recently.

The year is to start with a big get-together "feed" next Thursday night, at the First Methodist Church.

The Hi-y, as most Glendalians know, is an organization of high school boys, and has for its slogan: "Clean Living, Clean Speech, Clean Athletics and Clean Scholarship."

This year's Hi-Y in Glendale will be composed of five chapters which will enter into all the activities and affairs of the school.

The meeting yesterday was addressed by W. A. Horn, former secretary of the Oakland Y. M. C. A., who complimented the boys on their fine spirit and told what was demanded of them, and what had been accomplished by other groups animated by a similar purpose.

This week a number of groups organized among grammar school boy will also start.

MISS MARY LOGAN IS ENTERTAINED

Miss Mary Logan was the complimented guest at a pretty informal social afternoon given by her cousin, Miss Helen Kaups at her home at 1241 South Central avenue.

Rainbow colors featured the floral decorations and table appointments at the luncheon served at small tables toward the close of the afternoon, each table being centered with a rainbow tinted basket, the place cards representing the bridesmaids of a wedding party.

Just before the guests were seated the honoree, who will soon become the bride of Marshall Pearson, was presented with a large rainbow basket which contained the gifts constituting a miscellaneous shower.

The young women who participated in the affair were: Misses Mary Logan, Harriet Barnes, Mildred Ellison, Cecilia Lyon, Alice Gray Beach, Clara Pearson, Ida Wilbur, Mildred Lane, Marian Pearson, Mesdames Dwight Stephenson, Wayne Smith, Noble Ripley, John Hobbs, Andrew Stephenson, John A. Logan, Guy Pearson, O. W. Andresen, Ellen Kapus, and Miss Brown.

FAREWELL LUNCHEON FOR TAMSON JOHNSON

Young maidenhood enjoyed a pretty luncheon given Saturday at the home of Mrs. A. S. Chase on Riverdale drive by her daughter, Cecil Chase, in honor of Tamson Johnson. The honoree is leaving today for the Bishop's School at La Jolla, and this pretty little affair, at which she was presented with a shower of pretty hand-made handkerchiefs, was a farewell.

The girls who participated besides the honoree and hostess were Ethel Oliver, Erma Lucas, Rebecca Hodge and Mary Manbert.

Tamson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Yost, who formerly lived on Riverdale drive, but are now residing at 201 West Doran street.

PHILATHEA CLASS MEETS

Girls of the Philathea class of the Presbyterian Church met Friday night at the church and enjoyed a very pleasant evening. Games were played and those present were asked to join a curious club known as the Mimic Club. Later in the evening a business session was called and all the business was straightened out so that the following new officers might start their work without any trouble: Anita Fletcher, president; Jeannette Heideman, vice-president; Gertrude Heideman, recording secretary; Ella Dockter, class secretary; Helen Jenkins, treasurer.

It was agreed that the nominating committee had selected girls who will work for the best interests of the class, which has been organized for a year and has a membership of between thirty and forty. Mrs. C. L. Nelson is the teacher and the girls feel that they are very fortunate. The retiring officers are Josephine Rettberg, president; Gladys Levy, vice-president; Ruth Hall, recording secretary; Phyllis Baker, class secretary; Ella Dockter, treasurer.

ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE MEETS

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Braly of 500 North Brand boulevard attended a very interesting meeting Thursday afternoon of the Anti-Saloon League. It was a business meeting and luncheon as well. Several new officers were elected as follows: Dr. Briggs of San Francisco, president; Dr. S. T. Montgomery of Eagle Rock, vice-president, and Mrs. Healy Mudd, treasurer.

Several reports were read and the plans for the coming year were discussed. There were fifteen in attendance and seven of these were clergymen. The meeting was held in one of the private dining rooms at the Broadway department store, and a very delicious luncheon was enjoyed. Several fine speakers were on the program.

SAGE TEA TURNS GRAY HAIR DARK

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Bring Back Color and Lustre to Hair

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray or streaked, just an application or two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't bother to prepare the mixture; you can get this famous old recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients at a small cost, all ready to use. It is called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color and lustre of your hair.

Everybody uses "Wyeth's" Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy and lustrous.

METHODIST PICNICS

Two picnics entertained organizations of the First Methodist Church Saturday, one being the annual Sunday School picnic at Griffith Park, attended by about 150 pleasure seekers. There were races and other contests, and a jolly picnic dinner was consumed about 5 o'clock.

The other picnic was for members of the choir and was arranged by Miss Isabelle Isgrig, choir directress, who was assisted by Miss Dorothy Peart and T. A. Wright. The singers went to Santa Monica for a plunge party and a dinner on the pier. Rain forced the merrymakers to forego a part of the program. About 30 were in the group.

ACACIA MOTHERS MEET

The regular monthly meeting of the Mothers' Club of the Acacia avenue school took place Friday afternoon at the school building, Mrs. William Alexander, president, in the chair. After a short business meeting a very interesting program was given. The numbers included the reading of a paper on child training by Mrs. Ted Clark; "What Is the P.-T. A.?" by Mrs. F. G. Hartman; vocal solos, "A Winter Lullaby" and "The Land of the Sky-Blue Water," by Earl MacLaren, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Dolzen. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Girard sang two duets, "A Little China Maid" and "Mother Love." Mr. Girard also sang the song that he sang at the Glendale theater Friday night entitled, "Friend of Mine." The last few minutes of the meeting was devoted to preliminary drills by Mrs. O. W. Esselman, parliamentarian. The next meeting of the Mothers' Club will be held on the third Friday in October.

SUNDAY SERVICES AT THE CENTRAL CHRISTIAN

With the Bible School attendance nearing the 300 mark, and extra chairs necessary at the morning service, the Central Christian Church started off the fall work with great enthusiasm. Rev. Cole's morning sermon topic was: "The Church and the Lame Man," and his text was from Acts III, the story of the healing of the lame man at the temple door: "Silver and gold have I none, but such as I have, give I thee. In the name of Jesus of Nazareth, walk."

The minister said in part:

"Peter was witnessing for Christ when he performed this notable miracle, as we must witness, though not in the same way, every day of our lives. The religion of Jesus Christ is the only thing in the world that troubles itself with trouble. Its helpfulness is always rendered in the name of the Master, who is the great Healer. The new testament tells only one story, reiterated over and over, that man is a sinner whom Jesus came to save, and He is able to save through our faith. Prayer and service go together. Money is the last thing in the world and it all must be left behind when we die. To give money in aid of the 'lame men' on every side of us is not enough. The warm, helpful hand counts for much more than money. So let the Christian be ever on the job, looking around for the maimed, whom he can heal with the loving touch and kindly spoken word."

Harry Marple's solo and an anthem by the choir, were the special musical numbers.

At the evening service the pastor's theme was "Some Modern Dangers to the Soul," and the text was: "What is a man profited if he gain the whole world and lose his soul; or, what will a man give in exchange for his soul?"

"We may become so busy with the things of the world that we forget God and our souls. We may put off God when He calls us to attend to the vital things of this life, but there is one call that no excuse can avail to put off—the call of death. Many become so immersed in business that they have time for nothing else. Then, just when they are the busiest, comes the inexorable call of the angel of death.

"The insane man who, constantly, for days and months and years occupied himself solely with drawing a needle and an unknotted thread through a piece of cloth, is no sadder picture than the brilliantly endowed business man who uses all his time in piling up dollars he cannot take with him into the next life, and neglect the weightier things that count for eternal life. In seeking the good, we may lose the best. We should not live for time but for eternity. It is pitiful the things a man gives in exchange for his soul."

Those who took membership at yesterday's services were: S. L. Roland and wife, 2207 Canada boulevard; Mrs. Minnie Walker, 500 Raleigh; Mrs. Clara McKee and daughter, Esther, 123½ South Louise street.

WILL CELEBRATE HER 92ND BIRTHDAY ANNIVERSARY

Happy in spirit and delighted over the prospects of a dinner party, Mrs. Rebecca Bradley, who lives with her son at 428 North Jackson street, will celebrate her 92d birthday tomorrow with relatives and a group of friends, who have been invited for the occasion.

A huge birthday cake will be on hand for the party and other preparations have been made under the direction of Mrs. Bradley's daughter-in-law, to make the occasion replete with all that a birthday celebration should have. Mrs. Bradley asserts that birthdays come so fast now that it will not be long before she attains the century mark.

Born in East Haverhill, Mass., in 1829, Mrs. Bradley looks back over a peaceful, happy life, blessed with good health. She comes of sturdy New England stock. Her husband, James Bradley, was a sea captain who plied between East Coast ports and the West Indies during the glory of the Yankee clipper days. Later, he went into the South American trade.

During her life, Mrs. Bradley has come in contact with many national notables. She is related to both Samuel F. B. Morse, the inventor of the telegraph, and S. F. Smith, the author of "America." In her possession is a cherished autographed copy of Smith's poem, as well as many personal letters he wrote to her. Mrs. Bradley was intimately acquainted with John Greenleaf Whittier and had the privilege of reading many of his poems in manuscript form.

Eleven years ago Mrs. Bradley came to California to reside with her son. She has found the separation from the harsh New England weather greatly conducive to her comfort. Her only affliction is failing eyesight and its consequent interference with reading, which formerly gave her so much pleasure.

Mrs. Bradley proudly boasts of eight children, all of whom, however, cannot be here for the birthday celebration, but who are sending congratulations in their absence.
